CELEBRATING 30 YEARS OF SERVICE

23RD ANNUAL LEADERSHIP 100 CONFERENCE

THE RITZ-CARLTON, NAPLES
NAPLES, FLORIDA
FEBRUARY 13-16, 2014

MESSAGE

by

His All-Holiness

Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew

On the Occasion of the 30th Anniversary of "Leadership 100"

Your Eminence and beloved brother in Christ Archbishop Demetrios of America, Esteemed members of the Executive Committee,
Distinguished members of Leadership 100,

It is a sincere pleasure to greet all of you as you gather in Naples, Florida, in order to celebrate the 30th anniversary of "Leadership 100," the eminent endowment fund of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America, which was recently renamed in honor of Archbishop Iakovos, of blessed memory.

On this occasion of joyful celebration and honorable commemoration, it is only fitting and right to recall the visionary ministry of the late Archbishop Iakovos, whose insight and foresight led to the creation of this unparalleled support for the services and programs of our Church in the United States, which over the last three decades has proved instrumental in sustaining and encouraging such organizations as the International Orthodox Christian Charities, the Orthodox Christian Mission Center, Hellenic College and Holy Cross School of Theology, as well as many other ministries and ministers, clergy and laity, while generously addressing various critical situations in America and Greece. May the memory of this inspired Hierarch be eternal!

This 30th anniversary also coincides with the 15th anniversary since the blessed election and enthronement of your current spiritual father, Archbishop Demetrios, whose dedicated service and spiritual ministry have admirably expanded the scope of Leadership 100 and exponentially multiplied its membership. His Eminence has perceived and embraced the vital role of this endowment fund as the principal way of advancing Orthodoxy and Hellenism in America. May God grant him many years!

Finally, we would like to express our gratitude for and bless the exemplary commitment and selfless labor of all those involved in administrating and coordinating as well as revealing and realizing the outstanding work of Leadership 100 – from its chairman, Mr. Charles Cotros, to its executive director, Ms. Paulette Poulos; from the founding members, to the executive committee; from its board of trustees to its hundreds of members, partners, and junior partners. All of you, beloved children in the Lord, are the precious stones with which God has built, decorated, and edified His Church for the glory of God and the benefit of His faithful in the United States of America.

What Leadership 100 has accomplished over the last thirty years is, of course, far more than what can be measured in material support and monetary value.

Rather, it demonstrates depth of heart and breadth of perspective. Indeed, dear friends, what you have achieved in the last three decades has a more lasting impact than simply on your Archdiocese. For it has also supported needful circumstances beyond America. All of this gives us great cause for delight and pride at the Great Church of Christ, the Mother Church of Constantinople, which takes this opportunity to concelebrate with you and congratulate you on this important milestone and anniversary. May you continue to grow and prosper outwardly and spiritually for many years to come!

We wish all of you, your families and friends, the generous grace and abundant mercy of God. God bless you!

At the Ecumenical Patriarchate, January 1, 2014

Your fervent supplicant before God,

†BARTHOLOMEW
Archbishop of Constantinople-New Rome, and Ecumenical Patriarch

LEADERSHIP 100 MARKS 30TH ANNIVERSARY

In welcoming you, the beloved members of Leadership 100 to your 23rd Annual Conference, on the occasion of celebrating the 30th Anniversary of the founding of this dynamic organization dedicated to the philanthropic and humanitarian work of our Church, I am mindful of your special understanding of leadership itself as service to others, following the example of our Lord Jesus Christ.

My special privilege has been to serve you as Archbishop of America for the past 15 years, half the life of the organization founded by Archbishop Iakovos of Blessed Memory. How time flies as we cherish the memories of these historic years together, facing crises of epic proportions, here and abroad. How many of your faithful and dedicated leaders have passed on, men and women that seem irreplaceable. Yet you have always renewed yourself with new leaders, men and women, young and old, from every walk of life.

We have witnessed September 11, 2001 and the scourge of terrorism, as well as devastating earthquakes, fires and storms. We have also seen major economic dislocations in America, Greece, Cyprus, and around the world.

Yet with the help of God we have remained steadfast in our purpose, using the fruits of our labors to bind up the wounds, reach out to the widowed and orphaned, inspire our youth, educate our Clergy and faithful and communicate with the unchurched, advancing Orthodoxy and Hellenism.

Whenever there was a crisis or a need, Leadership 100 was there. Through good times and bad, you have come forward to serve with transparency and accountability for every charitable dollar and show an integrity that has engendered wide respect within the Church and our Community.

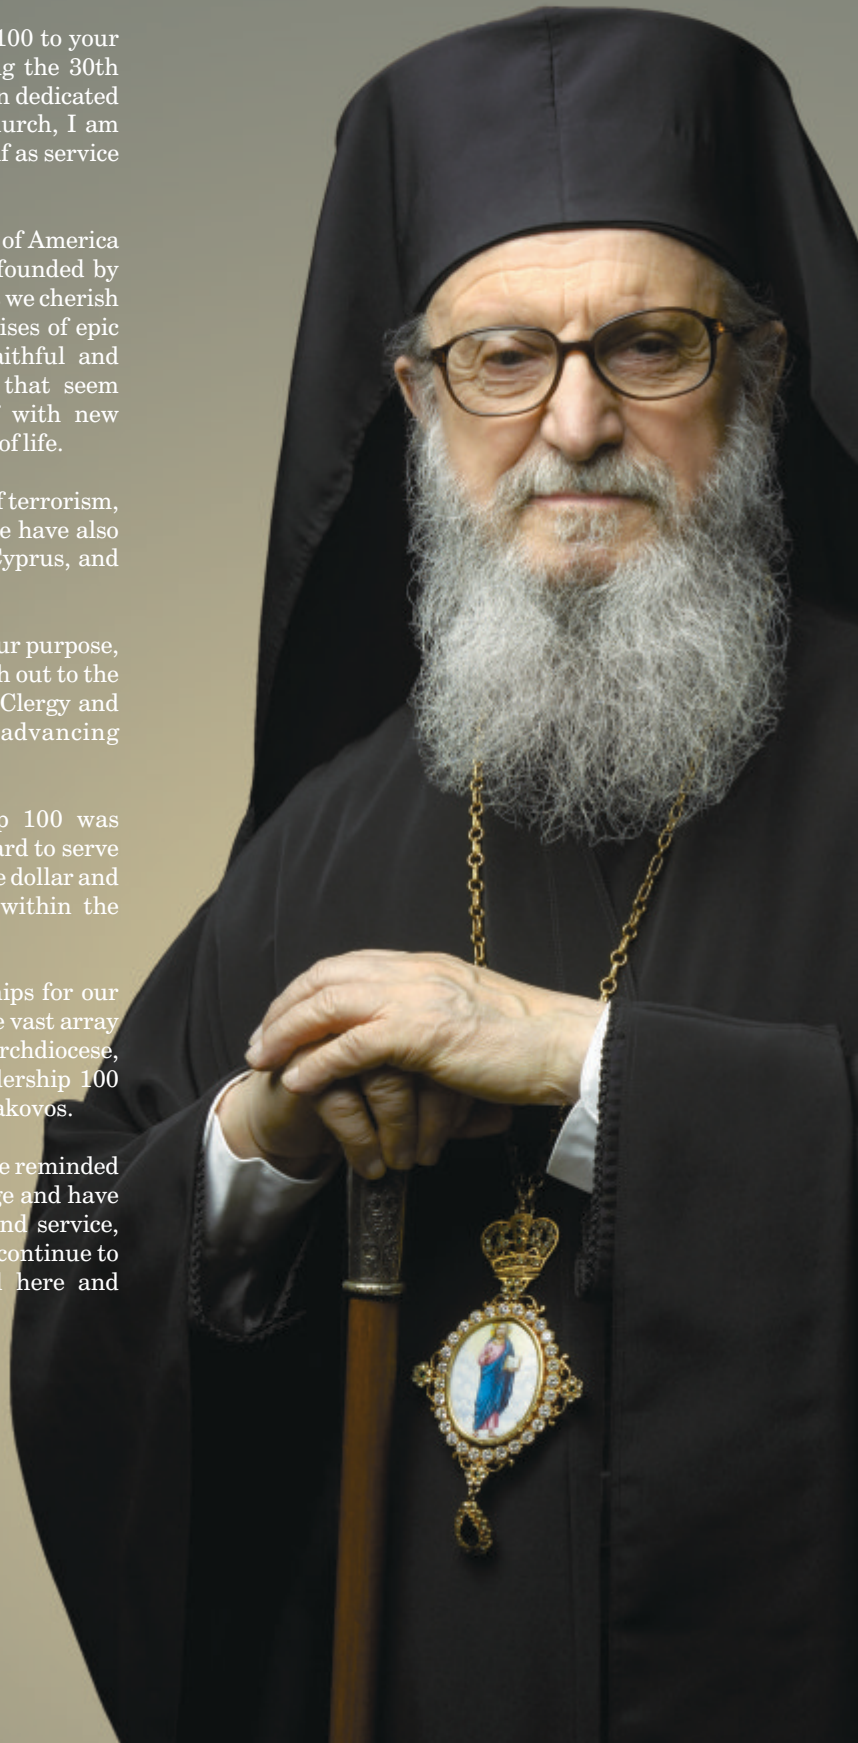

The support Leadership 100 has provided for scholarships for our seminarians at Holy Cross School of Theology and for the vast array of our National Ministries has been the mainstay to our Archdiocese, which we now acknowledge annually on National Leadership 100 Sunday, appropriately nearest to the Feast Day of Saint Iakovos.

As we meet the challenges of the future, may we always be reminded of those who have been guided by our Faith and Heritage and have prevailed in uncertain times, leading always by care and service, following the example of our Lord Jesus Christ. May He continue to lead us in our mission to promote His Holy Gospel here and everywhere.

With paternal blessings,

Archbishop Demetrios of America

† DEMETRIOS
ARCHBISHOP OF AMERICA

WELCOME TO THE 23RD ANNUAL LEADERSHIP 100 CONFERENCE

Charles H. and Connie Cotros

Welcome to the 23rd Annual Conference and the celebration of the 30th Anniversary of The Archbishop Iakovos Leadership 100 Endowment Fund. Since its beginnings in 1984 by Archbishop Iakovos of Blessed Memory along with our Founders, a small group of dedicated and leading Greek Orthodox laymen, Leadership 100 has grown dramatically, principally in the last 15 years under the guidance of Archbishop Demetrios. Total grants distributed will exceed $38 million in 2014, while membership already has reached 930 Greek Orthodox leaders past and present, men and women and young professionals who have carried on the tradition of advancing our Orthodox Faith and Hellenic Heritage.

Gratitude must go first and foremost to the two extraordinary Archbishops who have set us on our course and secured our future, as well as to our memorable founders, Andrew A. Athens, Thomas A. Athens, George K. Chimples, and George P. Kokalis, of Blessed Memory, who remain in our hearts and minds, and those who are still with us to guide us, Arthur C. Anton, Peter M. Dion and Michael Jaharis.

The Conference theme is: “A Vision for the Future of Orthodoxy and Hellenism”, as that is the mandate of our mission. We will focus on the future of our Church, Hellenism and Philanthropy in America and in the world. We will highlight the presentations of the Archbishop Iakovos Leadership 100 Award for Excellence to The Stavros Niarchos Foundation, to be accepted by Vasili Tsamis, Chief Operating Officer, to The Seleni Institute, to be accepted by Nitzia Logothetis, Founder and Executive Chairwoman, and to Greek Orthodox Telecommunications (GOTelecom), to be accepted by Nicholas J. Furriss, Senior Producer/Director.

The Conference will feature a personal dialogue with His Eminence Archbishop Demetrios who will share with us his visions for the future, along with the traditional Bible Study, as well as a Business Forum showcasing some of our outstanding members. Other events include the festive Glendi on Friday, February 14, and the Grand Gala on Saturday evening, February 15, as well as programs for children and young professionals. Entertainment will be provided by Dean Vali & Keffe.

The unique mission of Leadership 100 faces a bright future as we mark this historic Anniversary. We remain steadfast in supporting our National Ministries and, most especially, our beloved School as well as in meeting humanitarian needs. The dedication and quality of the leaders who serve our mission is the source of our renewal as we grow spiritually in our family of Faith and Friendship.

Connie and I look forward to greeting you at this momentous celebration.

Warmest regards,

Charles H. Cotros
Chairman

Vasili
Tsamis

VASIL TSAMIS ON THE NIARCHOS FOUNDATION

Vasili Tsamis, Chief Operating Officer and Co-Chief Investment Officer of the Stavros Niarchos Foundation since 2008, will speak on the global reach of the Foundation's activities at the Hellenism Forum, Thursday, February 13, 2014.

With more than 30 years of global finance experience in banking and investments, corporate lending, capital markets and project finance activities, Tsamis has held various senior positions with Citigroup, both in the United States and Switzerland, and with Julius Baer and Credit Lyonnais in New York. He has also completed the European American Bank's Executive Management training program.

Before embarking on his banking career, Tsamis was a research assistant in the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations in New York and Geneva, and worked as a staff reporter for the Greek Press and Information Service in New York. He completed his basic education in his native Greece and holds a B.S. in Economics and Political Science from Fordham University in New York, and an Advanced Degree in Banking from the American Banking Institute. In addition, he has attended several Harvard Business School Senior Executive Leadership Seminars. Tsamis is a licensed General Securities Representative and Securities Agent under New York State Law, and an Investment Adviser and General Securities Supervisory Principal, certified by the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA). He speaks Greek, English, French, Spanish and Italian.

Since 1996, the Stavros Niarchos Foundation has approved grant commitments of $1,365,000,000 (€1,036,000,000), through 2,470 grants to nonprofit organizations in 109 nations around the world.

As the crisis began to unfold in Greece in 2009, the Stavros Niarchos Foundation foresaw that its impact was going to be felt for many years to come, especially for the most vulnerable of the country's citizens, despite expectations at home and abroad that improvement and change would occur in three to four years' time. With general unemployment at 28% and youth unemployment (ages 18-25) exceeding 50% the severity of the crisis has not diminished, and its impact and disruptions continue to be as devastating, with issues such as child hunger figuring prominently in the picture. An earlier decision to build the Stavros Niarchos Foundation Cultural Center went forward in the belief that it would be a transformational project, "a hub of optimism for a better future," engaging the country's best and brightest and the younger generation in creative ways.

Despite this commitment, the Foundation continued its aggressive grant making activities in the area of Social Welfare to multiple non-profit organizations, focusing on the most vulnerable populations in Greece and around the world, with children's needs and the organizations serving them becoming a priority. In Greece, grants to Cerebral Palsy Greece, the Hellenic Society for Disabled People (ELEPAP) of Ioannina, the Rehabilitation Center for Disabled Children of Attica (KAAPAA), and the Zanneio Child Care Institution are representative examples. These commitments were extended in the area of Health and Medicine to assist in fighting malnutrition through the United States Fund for UNICEF, and to the work of Doctors of the World, to SeeAbility for the visually impaired and disabled, and to the Ralph Lauren Center for Cancer Care and Prevention.

Support of Arts and Culture continued with grants to the Metropolitan Museum and the Museum of Modern Art, the National Dance Institute and the Theatre Development Fund, all in New York, and to the Benaki Museum, the National Gallery and the Athens State Orchestra in Athens.

Another significant area of Foundation activity in Greece and worldwide includes Education, with support of Apostoliki Diakonia in Athens, Book Aid International in London, and such universities and schools around the world as Columbia University and De La Salle Academy in New York, Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, McGill University in Montreal and York University in Toronto.

Nitzia Logothetis

NITZIA LOGOTHETIS ON THE SELENI INSTITUTE

Nitzia Logothetis, founder of the Seleni Institute in New York with her husband, George M. Logothetis, Chairman and CEO of the Libra Group, will speak on the issues of women's health, at the Saturday Forum, February 15, 2014. Serving as Executive Chairwoman of the Seleni Institute, which opened its doors in 2011, she will address the multitude of services at the facility.

Logothetis is a trained psychotherapist with a professional interest in maternal mental health, mood and anxiety disorders, eating disorders, personality disorders and post-traumatic stress disorder. She has worked as a school counselor at the Colegio Isaac Rabin in Panama and as a psychotherapist at the Karen Horney Clinic in New York. Her philanthropic activities included volunteer service at the Brimble Hill School for Children with Disabilities in Swindon, UK, and at the Instituto Ateneo in Panama. She also assisted at the Nutre Hogar, a home for malnourished children, and at the Hospital del Niño, both in Panama City. Additionally, she has volunteered at FUNDADES, an orphanage for children with disabilities in Lima, Peru, and served as a mentor to children living with disabilities through Project Eye-to-Eye at Brown University.

After obtaining an undergraduate degree in psychology from Brown University, Logothetis earned a Master of Science degree in child development from the University of London. As an Honorary Associate Research Fellow at The Institute of Psychiatry in London, she engaged in research into neurological changes associated with autism and was a co-author of several papers on the subject. She later earned a Master of Arts degree in counseling for mental health and wellness from NYU's Steinhardt School of Culture, Education, and Human Development. She lives in Manhattan with her husband and two sons.

The Seleni Institute addresses women's unique mental healthcare. Seleni Psychology and Support provides assessment, consultation, and treatment for reproductive and maternal mental healthcare, miscarriage and child loss, prenatal anxiety and postpartum depression, infant bonding and attachment, fertility/infertility concerns, parent education and support, relationship and marital partner difficulties, body image anxieties, and life and career transitions. Seleni workshops and groups provide women with ongoing support, compassion, and psycho-education.

Nicholas J. Furris

NICHOLAS J. FURRIS ON GOTELECOM

Nicholas J. Furris, the Emmy Award winning producer and director, will address the Opening Forum on Thursday, February 13, 2014. A founder and senior producer and director of Greek Orthodox Telecommunications (GOTelecom), the video ministry of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America, Furris is also the owner and operator of Spectrum Films, Linx Educational Publishing and Shannon Miller Lifestyle in Jacksonville, Florida.

Among his many projects was the ten-part series entitled The History of Orthodox Christianity, which was filmed on location in the Middle East, Greece, Italy, Turkey and Russia. He has recently completed production of 26 half-hour original programs for GOTelecom on Discovering Orthodox Christianity, underwritten by a Leadership 100 grant in 2013, excerpts of which he will show as part of his presentation. The programs, to be previewed for the first time at our Conference, will air on a newly developed channel, GOTelecomTV on WhereverTV. They will also be available on the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese website, the Archdiocesan YouTube Channel and for sale through GOTelecom and Orthodox Marketplace.

A native of West Orange, New Jersey, Furris received a B.A. in Communications from Rutgers University, as well as completing studies at Gene Frankel's Acting and Directing Workshop in New York. He has won multiple Emmy Awards in his career as a producer and director of motion pictures, television series and concerts, including 250 documentaries and 80 educational films, as well as commercials for national and international clients, including Sodexo USA, CSX Corporation, The Mayo Clinic, Blue Cross & Blue Shield and St. Vincent's Health System. His work has been aired on A&E, The History Channel, PBS, The Home & Garden Network, CBS, NBC, and a number of international broadcast stations. He has worked with such notable personalities as James Earl Jones, Ed McMahon, Mickey Rooney, Mariette Hartley, Frank Vincent, Vincent Gardenia, Pat Summerall and John Stamos.

Furris is a member of AFTRA/SAG and has served on the Boards of University of North Florida-Library Dean's Leadership Council, Douglas Anderson School of the Arts, St. Photios National Shrine, Orthodox Christian Network and Orthodox Christian Fellowship. His life-long commitment to the Greek Orthodox Church began with service as an acolyte in his West Orange parish and participation in GOYA, Ionian Village, Sons of Pericles, and AHEPA. At his home parish of St. John the Divine, he has taught Sunday School, served as Chair of the Stewardship Committee and President of the Parish Council and is currently the Chairman of the Millennium Building Committee. He is an Archon of the Ecumenical Patriarchate and a recipient of the Medal of St. Andrew, conferred by His All Holiness Ecumenical Patriarch Bartholomew for his work as Communications Coordinator for Pope Benedict's Visit to Turkey. Nick and his wife Maria have two sons, Stefan and Andrew, who both are currently enrolled in universities in Tennessee.

A VISION FOR THE FUTURE OF BUSINESS

George D. Behrakis

John Catsimatidis

C. Dean Metropoulos

In keeping with the theme of the 23rd Annual Leadership 100 Conference, “A Vision for the Future of Orthodoxy and Hellenism”, and in celebrating the 30th Anniversary of Leadership 100, the Business Forum from 4:00 to 5:30 pm on Friday, February 14, 2014 will also look to the future. Titled “A Vision for the Future of Business”, the Forum will examine the future prospects for business in America and in the world as a result of the economic dislocation of both the national economy and the global economy, a constant concern of all peoples. Leadership 100 has the distinct advantage of counting among its members some of the most prominent business people in the country who are also dedicated to their Orthodox Faith and Hellenic Heritage, giving them a unique perspective on the particular business profession in which they have succeeded and on the business world in general.

George S. Tsandikos, the Vice Chairman of Leadership 100, who is Managing Director of Rockefeller & Company in New York City, with a background in banking and law, will moderate a panel of three of our most prominent members, George D. Behrakis, Chairman Emeritus of Leadership 100, John Catsimatidis, a member of the Executive Committee and Board of Trustees, and C. Dean Metropoulos, a long-time member.

Behrakis is a pioneer in the pharmaceutical field and a renowned philanthropist in medicine and health, higher education and the arts. His career ranged from McNeil Laboratories (a division of Johnson & Johnson), to the founding of Dooner Laboratories, where he developed and manufactured the leading asthmatic drug in the USA, and to the purchase of Munro Pharmaceutical, Inc., where he manufactured and marketed pharmaceuticals related to respiratory diseases, allergies, asthma, and immunology. He sold both companies, leaving the field in 1998 to found and operate Gainesborough Investments LLC. He has served on the Boards and supported numerous medical, educational, cultural and religious organizations, including Boston College, Brigham & Women’s Hospital, Northeastern University, Harvard University, Tufts University Medical School, Johns Hopkins University, the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston and the Boston Symphony Orchestra. He also has served on the Board of Hellenic College/Holy Cross School of Theology and continues to serve on the Executive Committees of the Archdiocesan Council and of Leadership 100, as Chairman Emeritus of the latter.

Catsimatidis is the Chairman and CEO of the Red Apple Group, which has holdings in oil refining, retail petroleum products, convenience stores, real estate, aviation, and supermarkets with investments in both medical and industrial technology. In 2013, Catsimatidis sought the Republican nomination for Mayor of New York City. Starting as a relatively unknown businessman, Catsimatidis finished second with 41% of the vote against an establishment candidate. Catsimatidis’s civic and charitable interests include the Hellenic Times Scholarship Foundation and the Greek Orthodox Church in America, where he served as Vice Chairman of the Archdiocesan Council, and Leadership 100, where he sits on the Executive Committee and Board of Trustees. He has also served on the Boards and supported New York’s Police Athletic League (PAL), the Boy Scouts, the Law Enforcement Foundation, and the Ellis Island Awards Foundation, where he is Vice Chairman. He is the co-founder of the Brooklyn Tech Alumni Foundation and has also supported the Juvenile Diabetes, Kidney, Alzheimer’s and Parkinson’s Research Foundations.

C. Dean Metropoulos is currently Chairman and CEO of C. Dean Metropoulos & Company (“CDM”), a boutique acquisition and management firm, which has restructured, built and grown numerous businesses throughout the U.S. and Europe. CDM has successfully partnered with several high-profile equity firms including Hicks Muse, J.P. Morgan Partners and J.W. Childs and has been involved in more than 72 acquisitions involving over $12 billion in invested capital. These acquisitions have earned some of the most attractive returns on Wall Street, as CDM investments boast an average IRR of 44%. Metropoulos has sat on the Boards of several companies in the United States and Europe and is also a senior partner and investor in Solar Marine, Inc., a private, European based, international dry cargo shipping company. A long time member of Leadership 100, he was recently elected President of Faith: An Endowment for Orthodoxy and Hellenism. He has been a philanthropic supporter of numerous Church-related, civic and arts organizations.

DEAN VALI & KEFFE

Dean Vali is the son of the famous Band Leader Gus Vali. In carrying on his father’s tradition, Dean has taken Live Event Music to the next level by assembling some of the best musicians in the New York area. His band, Dean Vali & Keffe, is set apart by its ability to play the very best Greek music while delivering incredible American music. The band has performed at numerous private celebratory occasions, for many Greek American organizations, and for major corporate events, including Citibank, Mercedes of China, BMW N.A. Headquarters, and BlackRock, as well as for non-profit organizations such as the American Heart Association and the American Cancer Society.

In addition to Dean Vali, Keffe features Greek vocalist Anthi with Bouzoukia, along with the band’s amazing American singers Swang & Chelle.
