LEADERSHIP 100 BEGINS FOURTH DECADE

In welcoming you, the beloved members of Leadership 100, to your 2015 Annual Conference, which begins the fourth decade of your dedicated service to our Church and Community, I am mindful of your exceeding generosity and faithfulness. Leadership 100 has always demonstrated the vision to move boldly into the future. This has been evidenced most recently by your support of the Saint Nicholas National Shrine, along with continuing support of the National Ministries and Hellenic College/Holy Cross School of Theology that enables our Clergy to fulfill their ministries.

My ministry as Archbishop of America has been enriched by the continued growth of such a unique organization that continues to attract men, women and young professionals committed to the Orthodox Christian Faith and to their Hellenic Heritage. This is even more remarkable in a day and age when those very values are often questioned. You have also made it your special mission to support our youth through our Church Summer Camps each year, creating a foundation of spiritual development in our families and our society.

While we continue to witness disruptions in our nation and in our world, emanating from hatred and violence, your collective action sows the seeds of love, faith and charity taught to us by Our Lord Jesus Christ, thus transforming lives and societies.

This year we gather in Orlando, Florida, a world known resort with many attractions, foremost being Disney World. There is even a Holy Land Theme Park here. While we can applaud the emphasis on family, happiness and entertainment in all these venues, we must remember that we represent something far greater than a Magic Kingdom and far more sublime than a Holy Land museum. We are, after all, heirs of the Kingdom of God in which true miracles have replaced magic tricks, where true faith has replaced unreal phantasies, and where the Living God has replaced shadows of non-existing deities.

As we meet the challenges of the future, may we always be reminded of these realities as the sure guide in our lives and in the lives of our families and friends, following the example of our Lord. May God continue to bless you abundantly as you grow in faith and service in the New Year.

With paternal love, blessings, and high esteem,

† DEMETRIOS
Archbishop of America

Archbishop Demetrios of America

WELCOME TO THE 24TH ANNUAL LEADERSHIP 100 CONFERENCE

Welcome to the 24th Annual Conference of the Archbishop Iakovos Leadership 100 Endowment Fund. The celebration of our 30th Anniversary has ended. We have entered the fourth decade since our founding, full of promise for the future as we have remained faithful to our mission.

As we gather as an extended family in Orlando, home of the exciting Disney World, my expectation is that you and your family will find spiritual renewal, edification and entertainment in the program and activities that have been planned. His Eminence Archbishop Demetrios of America will set the tone of our Conference with the traditional Bible Study and Lecture. The Welcome Reception, Glendi and Grand Banquet, as well as special activities for children and young adults, will offer occasions to celebrate and to renew friendships.

The Opening Forum on Thursday will present Constantine M. Triantafilou, Executive Director and CEO of International Orthodox Christian Charities (IOCC), a recipient of Leadership 100 grants, who will describe the ongoing work of this remarkable charitable outreach in America and around the world.

Two Forums, on Friday and Saturday, will feature Leadership 100 members, Michael Psaros, Co-Founder and Co-Managing Partner of KPS Capital Partners, LP, and Dr. Eleni Andreopoulou, from the faculty of the Weill Cornell Medical College/New York-Presbyterian Hospital in New York City. In addition, Dr. Panagiota (Penny) Andreopoulou, an Attending Endocrinologist in the Department of Medicine at Hospital for Special Surgery and Assistant Professor of Medicine in the Division of Endocrinology at the Weill Cornell Medical College, will join her sister in the presentation. A third Forum has been added on Thursday to address the building of the Saint Nicholas National Shrine at the World Trade Center.

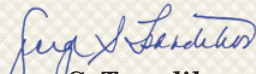

On Thursday evening, a “Symphony at Sunset” with the Orlando Philharmonic Orchestra, will be conducted by the renowned Maestro Peter Tiboris, also a member of Leadership 100, and will feature his wife, Eilana Lappalainen, the celebrated international operatic soprano.

The General Assembly, our Annual Meeting, will bring all members up to date on our financial situation, grants and membership and other activities throughout the previous year.

Finally, at the Grand Banquet on Saturday evening, we will pay tribute to the internationally renowned Greek academician, artist and designer, Ilias Lalaounis, who passed away in December of 2013, with the posthumous presentation of the Archbishop Iakovos Leadership 100 Award for Excellence, to be received by his wife, Lila.

I look forward to greeting you during the Conference and joining with you in celebrating our achievements, as well as renewing our goals.

Warmest regards,

George S. Tsandikos
Chairman

CONSTANTINE M. TRIANTAFILOU TO SPEAK AT OPENING FORUM

Constantine M. Triantafilou, also known as “Dean,” who has been the driving force behind International Orthodox Christian Charities (IOCC) for 16 years, will speak at the Opening Forum on Thursday, February 12, 2015. As Executive Director and CEO, Triantafilou manages all facets of relief and development programs for IOCC, including its international headquarters in Baltimore, Maryland, and 10 field offices in Eastern Europe, Africa, and the Middle East.

A graduate of Texas A&M University, Triantafilou began honing his leadership skills at IOCC in 1993 when he joined the organization as commodities manager for the former Yugoslavia country office, and was promoted to regional representative for Greece and Yugoslavia programs and director of programs before taking the helm in 1998.

During his tenure, IOCC has grown from providing $70 million in humanitarian assistance to 11 countries in its first six years of existence, to a global humanitarian organization that has distributed nearly $500 million in emergency assistance and development programs to vulnerable families and communities in more than 50 countries. This includes $4 million in emergency relief to Greek farmers impacted by the 2007 wildfires, and more than $11 million in medical support, heating fuel and food, and job assistance programs to families impoverished by Greece’s economic crisis.

Leadership 100 has provided IOCC with a total of $1,001,691 in financial support, including a two-year grant of $880,471 to develop a volunteer network to strengthen the ability of the US Orthodox community to respond to future disasters and needs within the country. In addition, Leadership 100 supported Hurricane Katrina relief with a grant, including gifts from individual members, totaling $120,950.

Under his leadership, IOCC received the 2003 Athenagoras Human Rights Award by the Order of St. Andrew the Apostle and in 2005 the Order of St. Sava, First Degree, by +Patriarch Pavle of the Serbian Orthodox Church.

In 2006, Triantafilou was elevated to Archon of the Ecumenical Patriarchate and in 2010, he received from Patriarch Alexy II of Moscow and All Russia the Russian Orthodox Church Order of St. Sergius of Radonezh Award. Triantafilou was most recently awarded with the Order of St. Sabba from His Beatitude Theodoros II, Pope and Patriarch of Alexandria and All Africa.

He and his wife, Maja, are the proud parents of twins, Nicholas and Anna.

SAINT NICHOLAS NATIONAL SHRINE PLANS TO BE PRESENTED AT THURSDAY FORUM

As the only house of worship destroyed in the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, Saint Nicholas Church is set to be rebuilt as the Saint Nicholas National Shrine at the World Trade Center by the end of 2016. Jerry Dimitriou, Executive Director of Administration of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America, will present the plans and status of the project at the Thursday Forum on February 12, 2015. The Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America has embarked upon a strategic capital development program to raise more than $35M for its construction, as well as for additional funding to maintain and sustain the Shrine with an endowment of an estimated $12M.

The Executive Committee of Leadership 100, meeting on Friday, June 20, 2014, unanimously approved a special gift of $1 million toward the rebuilding of St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church, to be designated as the St. Nicholas National Shrine, according to George Tsandikos, Chairman. In addition, individual Leadership 100 members have made gifts totaling $1.5 million. "Taken together our goal is to raise several million dollars in support of what is a truly historic undertaking by the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America that will commemorate the sacrifices of September 11 while making visible our Orthodox Faith and Hellenic Heritage," said George Tsandikos.

In anticipation of the project,
Governor Andrew Cuomo stated in 2011:

"We lost St. Nicholas Church in the destruction of September 11 and for too long its future has been uncertain. Rebuilding St. Nicholas Church, with a nondenominational bereavement center, is not just good news for the Greek Orthodox community, but for all New Yorkers. With this agreement, we are continuing New York's collective healing, restoration, and resurgence. Now we are finally returning this treasured place of reflection to where it belongs."

Designed by world-renowned architect Santiago Calatrava, the Saint Nicholas National Shrine project has attracted the attention of the nation and the world and called upon the dedication and resources of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese and Greek American Community. A Ground Blessing ceremony was led by His Eminence Archbishop Demetrios of America and members of the Holy Eparchial Synod on October 18, 2014 at its site on Liberty Street, overlooking the National September 11 Memorial & Museum.

PETER TIBORIS TO PRESENT “SYMPHONY AT SUNSET” THURSDAY EVENING

Peter Tiboris, the renowned conductor and a member of Leadership 100, will conduct the Orlando Philharmonic Orchestra in “Symphony at Sunset”, featuring his wife, dramatic soprano Eilana Lappalainen, on Thursday evening, February 12, 2015.

The special program will include some of the most dramatic music in the classical repertoire by Verdi, Mozart, Beethoven, and, as a special treat, music by Theodorakis. Highlights include Verdi’s La Forza del Destino Overture, Beethoven’s Ah, Perfido and Symphony No. 7 and Mozart’s Overture to Marriage of Figaro. In addition, The University Chorus of the University of Central Florida, directed by Dr. David L. Brunner, will perform music from Theodorakis’ Zorba Ballet Suite.

Lappalainen, a Finnish-Canadian performer and one of the most respected interpreters of Strauss’ Salome, which she has performed at opera houses throughout the world, has also been acclaimed for performances in leading other operas, such as Lohengrin, Lulu, Der Rosenkavalier, Arabella, Jenufa, Madama Butterfly, Tosca, I Pagliacci, La Traviata, Turnandot, Don Giovanni and Aida. Besides performances on international stages, she has taken on extensive responsibilities as General Director of the Greek Opera Studio and Berlin Opera Studio, Artistic Director for the Opera Division of the Young Artists Festival Bayreuth, Associate Artistic Director of the International Festival of the Aegean and Artistic Administrator for MidAmerica Productions.

Tiboris, who founded MidAmerica Productions 31 years ago in Carnegie Hall, has performed 1200 concerts worldwide, of which 550 have occurred in Carnegie Hall. The Festival of the Aegean, which he founded in 2005 on the idyllic island of Syros, Greece, marks its 10th anniversary this year. Additionally, the beautiful theater in which the festival takes place—The Apollo Theater (“La Piccola Scala”) marks its 150th anniversary.

In 2013, Tiboris founded MidAm International, Inc., a company created to facilitate MidAmerica’s growing presence in Europe. In addition to the 9th Festival of the Aegean, MidAm International presented two concerts in Vienna during Easter Week. Encouraged by the overwhelmingly positive response to the Vienna concerts, MidAm International presented its first performances in June 2014 at the historic L’Eglise de la Madeleine in Paris.

Tiboris studied music education at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, receiving a bachelor’s degree (B.M.) in 1970 and a master’s degree (M.S.) in 1974. While still an undergraduate, he became Assistant Choir Master at the Annunciation Greek Orthodox Church of Madison, under Michael Petrovich. From 1969 to 1971, he composed five pieces of Greek Orthodox liturgical music, all unpublished, but performed by various Greek Orthodox Church choirs in the U.S. to this day. In 1980, he received a doctorate (Ed.D) in music education from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Between 1972 and 1984, he taught at colleges in Wisconsin, Illinois, New Hampshire, and Louisiana.

Tiboris has a special connection to Leadership 100 and Archbishop Iakovos of Blessed Memory. While serving as Associate Professor of Music at the University of Southwestern Louisiana in Lafayette in 1983, Tiboris was asked to organize a concert in New York to commemorate the 25th anniversary of Archbishop Iakovos as Primate of the Greek Orthodox Church of North and South America. The concert, on January 7, 1984, at Alice Tully Hall, Lincoln Center, brought together soloists, choruses from Louisiana and New York, and the American Symphony Orchestra for a Greek-themed program, marking the New York conducting debut of Peter Tiboris and the founding of MidAmerica Productions.

Since then, he has fashioned two distinct and highly successful careers, as a conductor of classical music and as a classical music entrepreneur. He has conducted much of the choral repertoire and numerous symphonic works, operas, and ballets, including world, U.S., and New York premieres of works by Beethoven, Mahler, Bruckner, Dinos Constantinides, Dello Joio, Dohnányi, Effinger, Philip Glass, Gregory Magarshak, Mozart, Nielsen, Schnittke, Taneyev, Tchaikovsky, and Mikis Theodorakis, among others. Among his proudest achievements was conducting the U.S. premiere of Mikis Theodorakis’ Elektra in Carnegie Hall in 2000. He has gone on to conduct major orchestras in 20 countries.

MICHAEL PSAROS TO ADDRESS FRIDAY FORUM

Michael Psaros, a member of Leadership 100 and Co-Founder and Co-Managing Partner of KPS Capital Partners, LP, and a member of its Investment Committee, will address the Friday Forum on February 13, 2015. Named 2014 Executive of the Year by The Hellenic American Bankers Association (HABA) on May 1, 2014, he was invested as an Archon of the Ecumenical Patriarchate on October 19, 2014.

Psaros is the manager of the KPS Special Situations Funds, a family of private equity limited partnerships with over $6 billion of assets under management focused on making controlling equity investments in companies across a diverse range of manufacturing industries. KPS portfolio companies have aggregate annual revenues of over $8.6 billion, operate 104 manufacturing facilities in 26 countries, and employ approximately 40,000 associates, directly and through joint ventures worldwide.

He received a BSBA from Georgetown University in 1989 and attended Sofia University in Tokyo, Japan. He and his wife, Robin, created The Robin and Michael Psaros Endowed Chair in Business Administration at Georgetown University's McDonough School of Business, where Mr. Psaros presently serves as Vice Chairman of the Executive Board of Advisors. He also serves on the Board of Advisors of the Georgetown University Center for Financial Markets and Policy.

Psaros is a frequent speaker on turnarounds and manufacturing, and has been featured in the Wall Street Journal, Financial Times, Buyouts, Private Equity International, M&A Magazine, CNBC and numerous other business and financial publications. He is a member of the Church of Our Saviour in Rye, New York and All Saints Greek Orthodox Church in Weirton, West Virginia.

DR. ELENI ANDREOPOULOU TO ADDRESS SATURDAY FORUM

Dr. Eleni Andreopoulou will address the Saturday Forum on February 14, 2015. Dr. Andreopoulou serves on the faculty at the Weill Cornell Medical College/New York-Presbyterian Hospital in New York City. She was previously a member of the faculty in the Department of Breast Medical Oncology at the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center, where she held the title of Attending Physician and Assistant Professor of Medicine.

In addition to her active clinical practice, her academic interests include innovations in drug development of personalized molecular therapies to effectively treat breast cancer as well as multidisciplinary research strategies in collaboration with laboratories to interrogate cancer biology and elucidate mechanisms of drug sensitivity and resistance.

Dr. Andreopoulou completed her training in major academic institutions in both Europe and the US. After she completed her residency in Internal Medicine at St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London, she was awarded a European Society of Medical Oncology fellowship and trained at the Royal Marsden Hospital/Institute of Cancer Research in London, UK. That experience was key to her understanding of the complexities in preclinical and clinical evaluation of anticancer drugs and established a strong foundation in her career.

Subsequently, she completed her fellowship in Hematology and Medical Oncology at the New York University (NYU) School of Medicine where, in addition to intensive and comprehensive clinical training, she worked in clinical trial design and development, investigating novel drugs in breast and gynecologic cancers.

Dr. Andreopoulou leads several investigator initiated clinical trials sponsored by both the Cancer Therapy Evaluation program at the National Cancer Institute, as well as the pharmaceutical industry. She has published several peer review articles, reviews, editorials and book chapters, and has given multiple lectures at International and National Breast Cancer conferences. She has also been active with Breast Cancer awareness programs for early detection, screening and prevention with a particular focus locally of underserved minorities. She is a member of the European Society of Medical Oncology, the Royal Society of Medicine, the American Society of Clinical Oncology and the American Association for Cancer Research.

Dr. Andreopoulou is married to Andrew D. Panzures. Both are members of Leadership 100. The couple has two children and resides in Manhattan.

DR. PANAGIOTA ANDREOPOULOU JOINS ADDRESS AT SATURDAY FORUM

Dr. Panagiota (Penny) Andreopoulou, an Attending Endocrinologist in the Department of Medicine at Hospital for Special Surgery and Assistant Professor of Medicine in the Division of Endocrinology at the Weill Cornell Medical College, will join her sister, Dr. Eleni Andreopoulou, in addressing the Saturday Forum on February 14, 2015.

She is board-certified in Internal Medicine and Endocrinology, Diabetes and Metabolism, as well as being a Certified Clinical Densitometrist for the accurate interpretation of Bone Mineral Density tests. Her clinical and academic interests include osteoporosis, calcium and phosphate metabolism and metabolic bone disorders.

Dr. Andreopoulou received her Medical Degree at the National University of Athens Medical School in Greece. Following her residency in Internal Medicine at New York Hospital Queens/Weill Cornell Medical College, she completed her endocrinology fellowship at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Maryland, where she trained at the National Institute of Diabetes, Digestive and Kidney Diseases and the National Institute of Dental and Craniofacial Research (NIDCR). She conducted clinical research at the Skeletal Clinical Studies Unit of the Craniofacial and Skeletal Diseases Branch of NIDCR and has published the results in peer-reviewed journals. She received the Endocrine Society Award in 2010.

Dr. Andreopoulou practices general endocrinology with a special focus on osteoporosis and bone health, which comprise the bulk of her medical practice at Hospital for Special Surgery, where she sees patients. She recently published a review on osteoporosis diagnosis and treatment in the Annual Reviews of Medicine. She is a member of the American Society for Bone and Mineral Research, the Endocrine Society, the American Association of Clinical Endocrinologists, the American College of Physicians and the American Medical Women's Association.

In addition, Dr. Andreopoulou is engaged in multiple activities aiming to increase awareness in the community about osteoporosis prevention, and the diagnosis, treatment and preservation of bone health. She gives community seminars at Hospital for Special Surgery and produces and hosts a weekly radio broadcast in Greek on health and wellness issues at the Hellenic Public Radio. She is a Vice President of the Hellenic Medical Society of New York and organizes the Society's educational symposia and mentors younger colleagues of Greek origin.

TRIBUTE TO ILIAS I. LALAOUNIS

Leadership 100 will pay tribute to the late Ilias Lalaounis, the world renowned Greek academician, artist and designer. His contributions as a goldsmith and jeweler whose designs regenerated the glories of Greek history and tradition, transcended his craft and led to international recognition as the only jeweler ever elected to be a member of the French Academy of Fine Arts in 1990. He will be recognized posthumously with the Archbishop Iakovos Leadership 100 Award for Excellence for his contributions to Hellenism at the Grand Banquet on Saturday, February 14, 2015. The Award will be accepted by his wife, Lila, along with one of his four daughters, Ioanna. His three other daughters are Katerini, Dimitra and Maria. All four daughters direct both the company and museum he founded.

Born in Athens in 1920, the fourth generation of a family of goldsmiths and watchmakers, Lalaounis died in 2013, having transformed his beginnings in a family jewelry company into a worldwide presence, in which he was distinguished for reviving ancient Greek goldsmithing and promoting it through his collections throughout the second half of the 20th century. He also founded and served as President of the Lalaounis Jewelry Museum in Athens.

After graduating with excellence from the Greek University of Athens University of Economics and Business with a degree in Economics, Lalaounis took design and drawing classes and also gained knowledge of Byzantine music. While managing the family firm, he studied ancient Greek goldsmithery techniques that had been forgotten, and organized and trained Greek jewelers to enlarge both his own workshop and Greek production on precious metals. He left aside the European and American tradition of precious gems decorating extensively the jewels and created jewels that were precious but more accessible to the markets. Gold 18 and 22 k, sterling silver, semiprecious stones and few precious stones were used on exquisite handmade jewels that travelled and were adored from Tokyo to New York, from London to Istanbul.

In 1968 the family firm was split and Lalaounis opened his own flagship shops and a workshop at the Acropolis in Athens, which would lead to mounting 50 collections and 18,000 designs, in the most prestigious spaces in Paris, New York, and Tokyo, as well as in museums and galleries. Every collection presented 300-800 designs, all having a theme inspired by ancient Greek art, world art history, the natural environment, new technological advancements and children's designs. His studies of ancient Greek and Byzantine civilization and ingenious idea of reviving ancient Greek jewelry were hugely successful and attracted an international clientele. His knowledge and grasp of the art and history of early civilizations led to a number of 'archaeological' collections based on various cultures in Europe, Asia and America.

The Lalaounis personal idiom was dominated by his distinctive medium, 22K gold, and the belief that 'every piece of jewelry has a story to tell'. Famous women wore and adored his jewels and "Ilias Lalaounis boutiques" sprung up in Tokyo, Hong Kong, Paris, Geneva, Lausanne, New York, London, Virgin Islands and over 19 in Greece. His workshop became renowned for having only the best master craftsmen. Everything was produced in Athens at the Acropolis "workshop" and later at the new establishment in Nea Kifissia with a state of the art goldsmith workshop. The building of the old workshop, his parents home together with his archives, library, rare tools and all their secrets together with 3500 jewels and objets d'art originals were donated in 1993 to the first jewelry museum founded in Greece and one of only two of its kind in the world. Under the rock of the Acropolis, and the Theatres of Irodium Atticus and Dionysos, on Karyatidon and Kallisperi Streets, Lalaounis left his legacy to spread, his secrets to become examples for young jewellers and entrepreneurs and his contributions to Hellenism to become a permanent feature of Greek culture.
